Revised Zoning Law Adopted by Borough

Minor Changes Made to Aid Administration; No Change in Business Zones.

RESTRICT USE OF LAND

Narberth's revised Zoning Ordinance was unanimously adopted at the regular meeting of the Borough Council on Monday night with its passage on second and third readings.

The new ordinance, which supersedes that in effect since 1924, makes no changes in the business districts. Minor changes have been made to facilitate the administration of the ordinance, and to avoid conflicts between the zoning and building ordinances.

Chief among these is the restriction placed upon the use of land in residential districts, prohibiting business, although it may not involve erection of a building for commercial purposes. Hitherto the only check the borough had on business in a residential district was refusal to grant a building permit.

Another minor change in the ordinance permits the construction of private garages to a height of two stories instead of one, which will allow chauffeurs' quarters to be built over a garage, a situation not permitted by the old ordinance.

The revised ordinance has been under consideration for a period of eight months. During this time efforts

Caretaker Post at Com. Building Not Filled

No permanent appointment has yet been made for the post of caretaker of the Narberth Community Building and grounds, made vacant recently by the removal of William Blackledge.

William Newborg has been filling the place temporarily, though a permanent appointment will not be made by the Property Committee until the next meeting of Council in August. William H. Fretz is chairman of this committee and the other members are Clarence Kaerber and J. R. Hall.

The Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, has advocated the appointment of one of its members, Edward Ensinger, of Cynwyd, who is at present night watchman at Westminster Cemetery.

The position carries a salary of $135 per month.

Deed Notices Mailed

Notices were sent this week to property owners on Wynnedale Avenue and Wynnewood Court to present their deeds at the borough office next week beginning Monday. This is in continuation of the work of compiling an official borough register of all properties in Narberth.

Manoa Downed Twice by Narberth Nine

Jackson and Reynolds Pitch 6-1 and 2-1 Wins This Week.

By DAVE CASEY

Narberth continued its fine playing by defeating the strong Manoa team in two games this week.

On Tuesday night at Manoa Gene Davis' boys, hitting well behind the excellent pitching of Jack Jackson, floored the Haverford Township Club by the score of 6-1.

In Wednesday's return game at Narberth, Bill Reynolds also obliged with a well-pitched game in which he held the visitors to five hits and defeated them, 2-1.

Reynolds was aided by splendid fielding on the part of the Narberth team with Harry Francis the outstanding performer with seven putouts in centre-field, three of them sensational catches.

Crist, the Manoa hurler, also pitched good ball, but three timely doubles by Jones, Blessing and King in the second inning provided sufficient runs to win the contest.

Fiese Awarded Contract

The contract for the construction of two new tennis courts on the Community Playground was awarded last Friday morning by the Recreation Board to Frank C. Fiese at a bid of $1075. Mr. Fiese, formerly in the employ of M. R. Lane and Sons, tennis court engineers of Ardmore, recently went into business for himself. He manages the Narberth Country Club courts and is also building some courts at Princeton, N. J.

Petitions Circulated

Petitions have been circulated this week in the borough for H. C. Fritsch for Justice of the Peace and John Miller for Constable.

Alan Smith Named to Board of Adjustment

The appointment of Alan J. Smith, of 76 Wynnedale Avenue, Narberth, as a member of the borough's Board of Adjustment, to succeed P. B. Krout, who resigned, was announced on Monday by Burgess Henry A. Frye. The Board will meet in the near future to reorganize since Mr. Krout was its chairman.

The reappointment was also announced by Burgess Frye of Robert J. Edgar, of 632 Montgomery Avenue, as a member of the Shade Tree Commission, and of J. R. Hall, of 2 Sabine Avenue, to the Recreation Board. Mr. Edgar's term is for three years, Mr. Hall's for one and Mr. Smith's for one.

Narberth Firemen Win 1st Half Title

Defeat Cynwyd Firemen, 5-0,
Due to Yocum's Fine Pitching.

POWELL HITTING STAR

By DAVE CASEY

Playing good baseball behind the high-class twirling of Pete Yocum, the Narberth Firemen defeated the Union Fire Company of Bala-Cynwyd 5 to 0 Tuesday night, thereby capturing the first-half championship of the Fire-Police League.

Pete Yocum was in top form and his brilliant pitching was chiefly responsible for the Narberth victory. The Narberth hurler allowed but one hit, a triple by C. Thomas in the third inning, and retired nine of the Cynwyd batters by the strike out route.

"Howdy" Powell was the outstanding hitting star of the fray, clouting a triple and two singles, while Manager Dick Blessing and Bob Young each had a pair of safeties. As usual, Joe Rubincam's sensational fielding was of great assistance to the local cause.

PLAYED HERE 4 YEARS

The delegation of two dozen Borough fans was headed by Fred Walzer and Wilmer Crowell, former managers of the Narberth Club; Eugene Davis, present Manager, and William H. Durbin, president of the club. The presentation was made by Mr. Crowell.

The inscription on the clock read: "To Walter Masters with best wishes for his continued success from his many admirers in Narberth."

Masters was signed by the Senators upon his graduation in June and already has participated in two games. It is expected that he will remain with them for the rest of the season.

Funeral of Narberth Man, Accident Victim, Held Wed.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 9 A. M. for Patrick Curran, of 211 Forest Avenue, Narberth, with Solemn Requiem Mass at St. Margaret's Church.

Mr. Curran died Monday in the Delaware County Hospital as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident at Lansdowne Avenue and School Lane, Drexel Park, early that morning. The car in which Mr. Curran was riding, driven by Frank Makers, of 317 Woodbine Avenue, Narberth, crashed into a pole. Mr. Makers suffered internal injuries and four broken ribs. His condition was reported at the hospital on Wednesday as fair.

A resident of the borough for about ten years, Mr. Curran had been sexton of St. Margaret's Church, Narberth, for the past year and a half. He is survived by his wife, Ellen, and five children, Peter, Edward, Richard Philip and Nellie.

New Wading Pool on Playground Thrills Nearly a Hundred Kiddies at Opening Tues.

A dream of scores of Narberth kiddies became a reality this week when the new wading pool on the Community Playground was opened on Tuesday afternoon.

At 3 o'clock nearly a hundred little tots were seen scampering about under a shower of cold water which soon filled the pool. For two hours they thrashed about, having the time of their lives, and all too soon the whistle blew at 5 for them to get out.

The scene resembled bedlam as everyone wanted to get under the refreshing water just once more. But a little after five the pool was cleared and the kids went running home across the playground eager to tell their mothers what a good time they had.

The wading pool is under careful supervision when in use and no parents need feel anxiety about letting their children use it.

It will be open Tuesday and Friday afternoons, the shower being turned on at 3 o'clock. On other days there will be a fifteen-minute shower at 3 with the water remaining in the pool for an hour.

Drive Ten Years Without Mishap

Joseph Alcorn, left, of Narberth, and George Weir, of Ardmore, employees of the Autocar Company, who have been presented recently with Safety Merit Certificates by the General Accident Insurance Company of Philadelphia for ten years of driving motor trucks without an accident.

Ardmore and Narberth Men, Employees of Autocar Company, Win Safety Award

George Weir, of 131 Grandview Road, Ardmore, and Joseph Alcorn, of 211 Conway Avenue, Narberth, both employees of the Autocar Company, have just been presented Safety Merit Certificates by the General Accident Insurance Company of Philadelphia. These certificates are presented only to men who have driven motor trucks for ten years without an accident of any kind. Needless to say, such presentations are very infrequent.

In addition both men were presented with a check for $50 by the Autocar Company.

Mr. Weir has been an employee of the Autocar Company since June 27, 1910, and has been driving Autocar trucks steadily, both locally and over long distances, for 21 years. The records back to 1921 show that during that decade he has had no accidents whatsoever.

Mr. Alcorn has been an employee of the Autocar Company since August, 1918, and drives Autocar trucks principally for short hauls and for occasional delivery work. He also has never had any accidents of any kind.

Although these two individual records are outstanding and fully merit the distinction which the General Accident Insurance Company is conferring upon them, the safety record of all of the delivery drivers of the Autocar Company is unusual. There are eleven such Autocar delivery drivers working under the supervision of Harry Michell and the records indicate that for the year ending July 1, 1931, they covered approximately 220,000 miles with only one slight property damage accident which occurred inside the limits of the Autocar plant in Ardmore.

Wading Pool Not Needed

Last Friday afternoon's storm hit Narberth with such force that its new public wading pool proved momentarily needless. Pedestrians and motorists waded in water over a foot high on Haverford Avenue, one girl removing her galoshes and wading barefoot. At a valley in Sabine Avenue west of Dudley Avenue, water swirled around one child with such force and depth that she was rescued as from an ocean's surf.

Roads Undermined, Trees Downed by Heavy Storm

With a gale or nearly mile-a-minute speed, accompanied by continuous lightning and nearly two inches of rain, the Main Line caught the full force of Tuesday night's storm. Serious damage was done in many places, particularly to lawns, roads and drives.

In Narberth several homes were visited by bolts which struck chimneys and came in over radio antennae. In Cynwyd the rushing waters did substantial damage on Conshohocken State Road. Near Lodges Lane the road was undermined and a tree overturned, and at the home of Robert McCracken, 445 Conshohocken Avenue, an underground stream caused a serious cave-in on the lawn, taking with it shrubbery and a recently completed rockery.

Acres of tall field corn were leveled by the rain and wind on the farm of Percival Roberts, Penn Valley, where a retaining wall below one of the barns was carried away by the torrents. That entire region was without electric power or telephone for the entire day Wednesday.

Many trees, some of large size, were destroyed in various parts of the Main Line.

Highway Report Summarizes Work Done During June

The report of the Highways and Sewers Committee, as submitted to the Narberth Borough Council by its chairman, Robert F. Wood, on Monday night follows:

"During the month of June the members of this committee and the Superintendent of Public Works made their annual inspection of sidewalks and curbs and, as a result, about 70 repair orders have been sent to property owners. It was the policy of the committee in making the inspection this year to be as lenient as possible because of the general depressed business conditions and orders were issued only in urgent cases.

"A new surface water inlet has been installed at the corner of Elmwood and Wynnewood Avenues costing $12.24 for labor and $19.34 for material.

"Labor expense for the month amounted to $912. Out of that sum, $201.42 was the labor cost of special street maintenance work, which included the repairing of gutters with Suburbanite and patching holes in the streets. The material purchased for that work during the month cost $1042.83."

Clearview Monday Night Victim of Narberth Streak

By DAVE CASEY

Gene Davis' borough boys kept up their winning ways by handing Magistrate Cozzens' Clearview A. C. a 3-0 defeat last Monday night at the playground. Keith Parks was on the mound for the locals and turned in another well-pitched game, allowing only three hits and fanning eight of the visitors.

Only eight Clearview players showed up for the game so Manager Davis loaned the visitors "Sparky" Straus, diminutive Narberth substitute, who played a capable fielding game, but was very weak with the stick.

Narberth scored two in the first inning on singles by Gilfillan, Rubincam and Martin, and a long double by Bob Jones. No more runs were scored until the sixth, when successive singles by George Humphries, King and Parks produced the last tally.

The Public Schools Grow

The Main Line is keeping in step with modern needs in the growth of its school systems. This summer will see much progress in the growth of public school properties.

In Narberth work is well under way on the old school building which is being reconstructed and modernized. The structure, once the home of the entire 12 grades, later the High School building, is to be completely done over in time for the fall term, at which time the eighth grade will be moved from Lower Merion back into the Borough system.

The Penn Wynne structure, now practically complete, will be ready and in operation by September, to take care of the rapidly-growing population in the southeastern part of the Township. The existence of this modern building will not only take care of present needs, but should encourage further growth in that section.

The third big development started last week when trees were removed and excavation begun for the new administration and high school building on Montgomery Avenue. This third unit in Lower Merion's High School plant is to be ready for use in the fall of 1932. Looking back but a few years, we can see the tremendous strides made in the Main Line's program of school development.

Will This Solve the Wheat Problem?

During the past week the Japanese beetles have appeared in our gardens in tremendous swarms. To most of us they are merely a serious nuisance—wrecking the rose beds and defoliating the trees whose flavor they prefer.

But there is a serious aspect to the increase and spread of the Oriental pest which was brought home sharply this week in a visit to one of the large farms of the Main Line. The manager took us to the barn where wheat was being threshed, and showed us dozens of bushels in the bins. The freshly threshed wheat was crawling with the beetles.

"We can't sell this wheat to be made into flour," our guide said. "Not only is it full of live beetles, but there are plenty of dead ones whose presence would not add to the flavor. It will all have to be fed to the cattle."

The beetle is spreading each year. What will happen if it reaches the great farming regions of the West? The pests do not eat the kernels of wheat, but swarm into the fields at the time the July crop is being harvested, making it impossible to gather the crop without taking with it a quota of the bugs.

If the great grain regions and truck-growing States are subjected to a visitation by the Japanese beetles it may be a national calamity. Perhaps a reduction in the crops of wheat would help those with good wheat to sell, but it would ruin any grower so afflicted.

And not only is wheat in the path of danger, but many other kinds of garden produce and nursery stock. We need only step into the back yard to get a picture of what can happen if the infestation continues to spread.

In this country Prohibition and the Depression take up a lot of time and conversation, but do we not have here something deserving every attention? The Government has been working on the problem, but only in a limited and experimental way. The Mediterranean fruit fly was defeated in Florida by quick and decisive action. The beetles should have had the full resources of the Government thrown against them years ago, regardless of cost. It is not too late yet to mobilize every means of extermination—and stopping Sunday tourists will not do it.

Or will we look back ten years from now and wish for the opportunity which has nearly slipped away? These foreign visitors are even now a serious menace. They may become a national calamity.

Those of us who regard modern inventions and explorations as a sign that man has learned to dominate the elements changed our minds Tuesday night as the lightning, rain and wind tore down on the Main Line.

Congratulations to our neighbor, David M. Newbold, of Haverford, whose wartime Red Cross work has earned him the honor of becoming a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France.

News Shorts

Organists. Henry S. Fry, of Llanfair Road, Cynwyd; Ralph Kinder, of State Road, Bala, and Dr. Herbert J. Tily, of Montgomery Avenue, Cynwyd, were elected to the executive committee of the Pennsylvania Chapter, American Guild of Organists, at the annual meeting held recently at Atlantic City. Mr. Fry was also elected vice-president of the American Organ Players' Club.

Suicide. Eugene J. Finnan, of 124 Kenilworth Road, Merion, despondent, shot himself in the left temple last week. An investment broker, he had been suffering from arthritis for five years. He is survived by his wife and three sons.

Petition. The Bryn Mawr Business Association, through William H. C. Ramsey, chairman of its Legislative, State and Municipal Improvement Committee, has petitioned the Lower Merion Township Commissioners to widen and improve Elliot Avenue in Bryn Mawr. Mr. Ramsey suggested that a survey be made to see if the street could be widened to twenty-four feet without destroying trees.

Student. Evan Morris Wilson, of Stratford Lodge, Rosemont, who was graduated with honors in June from Haverford College, has received notification of his admission to New College, Oxford, where he expects to study for two years.

Romance. The elopement to Elkton recently of Miss Constance Morford Weisenburg, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore H. Weisenburg, of Paoli, and John Hammond Greiner, of Strafford, marked the culmination of a childhood romance of fifteen years' standing. Mr. Greiner just completed his sophomore year at Ursinus College and Miss Weisenburg has been attending the School of Industrial Art. "The elopement was a surprise but it seems to be the method of the younger generation," commented Dr. Weisenburg.

Clue. A cap left in the home of Henry Hobson, County Line Road, near Matsonford Road, Villanova, furnished the clue by which its owner, Edward Lubi, of Conshohocken, was arrested last week for robbery by Radnor Township Police. The cap contained the initials "E. L."

Knifed. "Obviously murder," declared Coroner J. Evan Scheehle, of Delaware County, upon examining the body of Dominick Marroni, found dead in an alley in Wayne early last Friday morning. He had been stabbed with a knife many times in the stomach and chest, and had been dead several hours when found. Police believe he was the victim of a feud.

Two gallons. When an aeroplane ran out of gas at Fifty-fourth Street and City Line Sunday evening, its pilot circled around a Tom Thumb golf course at City Line and Bryn Mawr Avenue seeking a landing place. Finding none large enough, he narrowly cleared some trees and effected a landing on a field at the northeast corner of Conshohocken Avenue and City Line. At a nearby gasoline station he bought two gallons, and then headed back for the Patco field at Norristown.

Bryn Mawrtyrs. Leaving their alma mater for a year, six Bryn Mawr girls are among a group of ninety students from thirty-five universities and colleges who will sail today for France to spend their junior year in educational institutions in that country. They will return next summer to finish their senior year at their home college. The Bryn Mawr students are: Elinor Chapman, Lake Forest, Ill.; Caroline Lloyd-Jones, Madison, Wis.; Eileen O. Mullen, Chestnut Hill; Cecelia C. Robb, Bethesda, Md.; Margaret Tiler, Baltimore, Md., and Elizabeth P. Whyte, Scarsdale, N. Y.

Summer Home. The family of Senator James J. Davis, instead of spending the summer months this year as they have in the past at the seashore, are occupying a summer home on the estate of Philippus Miller, near Berwyn. The property has been leased by Senator Davis as a vacation home.

El Brendel is well aided by E. E. Horton, Una Merkel, etc., in "Six Cylinder Love," pleasing summer comedy, at the Narberth Theatre this Friday and Saturday. Also booked: Bobby Jones in "The Niblick," another of his interesting and at times amusing golf short subjects, and a twenty-minute jungle story titled "Adventures in Africa."

Thomas Meighan, aided by Dorothy Jordan, gives a convincing character portrayal in "Young Sinners," a love drama coming to Narberth the first of next week.

On Wednesday and Thursday Ann Harding's best picture, produced two years ago, will play here. "Paris Bound" is an unusually well-staged drama, and Frederic March aids in making it excellent entertainment.

The end of next week will see that popular Saturday Evening Post story of Earl Derr Biggers, "Charlie Chan Carries On," at Narberth. Warner Oland carries on nobly as an Oriental detective who solves a mysterious group of murders in connection with a round-the-world tour.

At the Egyptian

Ramon Novarro in a pleasing characterization similar to that in "The Student Prince" comes to the Egyptian this week-end in "Daybreak" aided by Helen Chandler. It is romantic and exciting. At Saturday's children's matinee the feature is "Silver Horde."

"The Front Page," stage success, is making cinema history as a fast-moving, unusually thrilling story of big city newspaper men, politics, death and love, with the love element subordinated by order of the managing editor, played by Adolphe Menjou. Worth seeing and hearing a second time, including next Monday and Tuesday.

"Doctors' Wives," coming to Cynwyd next Wednesday and Thursday, features Warner Baxter and Joan Bennett, two widely popular stars.

A new Spanish actress, Conchita

Montenegro, and an American stage star, Leslie Howard, appear in "Never the Twain Shall Meet," coming to the Egyptian the end of next week. At Saturday's matinee this South Seas romance will not appear, and in its place will be "Hook, Line and Sinker,"

By ROBERT J. EDGAR

Five inches of rain in July! Ain't that sumpin'?

And on July tenth we were two and a half inches ahead of normal rainfall for the year. And with an excess of temperature for the year gardeners have no cause for complaint as regards the weather.

But, of course, there were many aphids which are abundant in damp weather and then there were some insect pests—including Japanese beetles.

Damp weather also makes a favorable condition for slugs (snails without shells). These pests feed at night and chew off delphiniums, violas, pyrethrum and small campanulas while we sleep. They raise havoc in a seed bed, but thank the seedsman for a waterproof poison bait which finishes friend slug.

We stopped at "The link between forest and home" and ordered the makings of a cold frame. "The Link" sent the sideboards of cypress, "the wood eternal," the lath frames of pretty white pine, "that warps not neither does it split," and the laths themselves of enduring cedar. A can of green shingle stain coated the finished job and even the nails (galvanized) were delivered with the cut lumber. Now to sow the seeds of perennials, cover the laths with burlap and keep the seed bed moist until the seeds break through, then to remove the burlap and let them grow under lath.

It has been said that "success in the garden is measured by the thoroughness with which the preparation is made" and never were truer words spoken. We cannot fool the plants. Beds thoroughly built will grow healthy plants, will withstand excessively dry or excessively wet weather and are well worth the extra effort of thorough preparation in the beginning. Sub-soil drainage and surface drainage are two important factors. Plants standing in low, poorly drained soil cannot be expected to live and flourish.

No, Clarissa, your hardy phlox did not change its color. Those mean colored ones are seedlings that have grown up in the beds. Better make sure of the next plants of Elizabeth Campbell and keep the flower heads cut off. And don't let any plant go to seed, it's bad for the plant.

Summer is a good season in which to have trees trimmed. They have completed their leaf and twig growth and the fall growth of wood will help to heal the cuts. All broken branches should be flushed off close and the cuts painted with preservative paint. All old cuts should be repainted at the same time to prevent air and moisture entering the openings to start cavities.

If your climbing roses have started to send up new shoots from the base it is time to remove all old wood and train the new stems into position for flowering next June. A mild feeding at this time will help to make good canes for next year. Better make holes about six inches deep with a forked spade and fill them with tree food. And spray the new canes thoroughly to protect them from beetles.

Always leave as much foliage as possible when cutting gladiolus—if you want to dig good bulbs for next season. One leaf on the stem is just right.

Asks Beetles in Bottles for Tickets for Movies

Beetle-collecting is the new hobby of garden lovers and movie enthusiasts in this section as the result of an offer, which still holds good, made by Managing Director Joseph Conway, of the Egyptian Theatre, Cynwyd. For each quart Mason jar, with a cap on it, containing a quart of Japanese beetles, and presented at a redemption table in the lobby of the Egyptian Theatre, a ticket of admission is being presented. Early this week the beetles commenced pouring in by the quart and Mr. Conway expressed himself well pleased with the response to his offer.

"I am glad to aid in the beetle campaign by furnishing an incentive to trap, kill and collect beetles in quantities," he declared. "The offer still holds good."

Mr. Conway has decided that he prefers to have the insects dead when presented for admission (that is, for their owners' admission) to the theatre. Or else, he says, it would be best not to entrust them to small boys. On Monday evening one of the quart jars was presented by a boy, who dropped it. Fortunately, the beetles were comatose at the time, but the theatre management desires to safeguard itself against another accident when beetles might be in a more lively mood when released from confinement.

Narberth Gains First Win Over Bryn Mawr

Harry Francis' Single in Tenth Ends Exciting Fray Saturday.

NOT A LEAGUE GAME

By DAVE CASEY

Harry Francis' well-placed single in the tenth inning, which sent Rubincam over the plate, gave the rejuvenated Narberth team their first victory of the season over Dan Hemcher's Bryn Mawr Redmen last Saturday at the playground.

The final score of the game, which unfortunately was not a league contest, as the second half of the Main Line circuit does not open until this week, was 5-4. The contest, although somewhat loosely played, was exciting throughout, while the final result was most gratifying to the large crowd of local fans who were in attendance. This victory over a team that easily defeated Narberth in their two games in the first half gave the local supporters some grounds for the hope that the Narberth Club will be in the thick of the struggle for first place in the second part of the league season.

Both Jim McKee and George King, the opposing hurlers, allowed few hits, but were generous with bases on balls and also suffered from several miscues on the part of their supporting cast.

The Davismen started out in fine style, grabbing themselves two runs in the first inning and two more in the second. Harry Francis opened the game with an easy roller, which wandered through the legs of "Doc" Harkins, putting the fleet Narberth outfielder on first. After Gilfillan flied out, Slaughter scored Francis with a

Mrs. C. H. Shaw, Long Active in Local Affairs, Leaves with Family to Live in Amherst, Mass.

After a residence of twelve years in Narberth, Commander and Mrs. Charles H. Shaw and their children, of Avon and Merwyn Roads, will leave tomorrow to make their home in Amherst, Mass.

Mrs. Shaw has been a most active worker in community affairs and identified with many local organizations. For years she has sung in the choir at All Saints Church where she was also chairman of the domestic missions committee of the Women's Auxiliary.

A member of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth since 1921, she has held the offices of welfare chairman, club treasurer, corresponding secretary and assistant publicity chairman. She was one of the group of women of the club who helped organize the Narberth Child Health Centre and has served as its secretary and treasurer since its formation in January, 1930.

Mrs. Shaw was one of the four organizers and original officers of the Mulieres, the auxiliary of the Narberth Fire Company. It was she who proposed the name by which the organization came to be known. She also served as its publicity chairman.

Other organizations which have claimed Mrs. Shaw's time and interest are the Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, on whose Board of Directors she served, as well as chairman of national defense, the Merion League of Women Voters, the Mount Holyoke Club of Philadelphia, and the Narberth Branch of the Needlework Guild of America, of which she was a director.

In addition to membership in these organizations, Mrs. Shaw found time to act as chairman of the welfare campaign and the Red Cross drive in the borough for two years. She has promoted many movie benefits for charitable purposes and taken part in many plays given by the Community Club. This year she had charge of the Narberth booth at the Little Gaden Day Sale at Bryn Mawr, sponsored by the Main Line Federation of Churches.

A charter member of the Main Line Orchestra Association, she also sang in the one-time Main Line Choral Society.

Her husband, Commander Shaw, completed thirty years' service in the Navy this June, being graduated from Annapolis in the class of 1905. He has been stationed at various times at the Philadelphia Navy Yard and has recently been detached from command of the U. S. S. Bridge, supply ship for the Atlantic Fleet, to become intelligence officer of the First Naval District (Boston).

The Shaws have five children, four girls and a boy. Rosalie is a senior at Mt. Holyoke College. Charles Harlan Shaw, Jr., graduated in June from Lower Merion. He was a member of the Lower Merion Amateur Radio League and of the Merion Scout and Sea Scout troops. Juliet, who finished her sophomore year at Lower Merion this year, and Margaret, who attended the Bowman Avenue School, have danced in the ballet of many performances of the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company. Carolyn, the youngest, also attended the Bowman Avenue School. Although she is sorry to leave, moving to Amherst will not be like settling in a strange town since it was her family home and birthplace as well as her husband's. "Narberth has been an ideal community in which to bring up a family," she said.

Dr. and Mrs. O. J. Snyder and Master Jimmy Snyder, of Woodbine and Narberth Avenues, are leaving by motor on Sunday, July 26, for Camp Minneiska, Wisconsin, stopping en route at various places of interest.

Mrs. Bina Preble, of New York, was the guest of Mrs. R. J. Dothard, of Wynnewood Road, last week.

two-base blow and then was thrown out, Morgan to Gazella, after Martin had grounded to the visiting shortstop. George Babb then rolled one a couple of feet from the plate and when Redmond missed Hammond's throw, Martin scored. In the second after two were out Francis and Gilfillan singled and scored when King had a wild streak, passing Slaughter and hitting Martin and Babb with pitched balls.

In the third Bryn Mawr scored one on singles by Townsend, Redmond and Curvan. The Redmen then lost an excellent chance to score and the spectators were edified by what looked like the prize boner of Main Line League history but was caused by Dan Redmond's mistake in taking base running advice from an opposing player. Redmond had clouted a two-bagger and George King followed with a single to right, but as Redmond was rounding third George Babb, no doubt with the highest motives, called out, "Too bad, Dan; he caught it," and the gullible Redmond, instead of crossing the plate, ran toward his position at first base and was called out by Umpire Burton for running out of the base lines, making the third out for the borough boys without exertion on their part.

Bryn Mawr got some revenge for Babb's helpful (?) coaching, however, when a wild throw on his part coupled with singles by King and Gazella and a pass to Hammond enabled them to score three runs and tie the count in the seventh inning.

Neither team could break the tie in the ninth and Bryn Mawr also went down without scoring in the first half of the tenth.

The versatile Joe Rubincam, who plays a star game at any infield position, opened the home half of the final inning with an infield single. Harry King then batted for Young and laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt, advancing Rube to second. Jim McKee went out, Gazella to Redmond, Rubincam taking third, and, as related above, Harry Francis ended the game with his second hit of the day.

Musical Appreciation Topic at Rotary Club

Local Publisher Speaks Before
Luncheon of Business Group.

A talk on musical appreciation, illustrated with excerpts from phonograph records, formed the program Tuesday of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. The speaker was Philip A. Livingston, local publisher.

Recommending music as an avocation not easily affected by business difficulties or curtailed amusement budgets, the speaker made a plea for a more general appreciation of "high-brow" compositions in which all of the appeal of modern popular music is found, plus better writing.

"We appreciate any piece of music because of its melody, harmony and rhythm," the speaker said, "and rebel against any composition in which these elements are missing. In modern popular music the rhythm is emphasized and the melody is obvious. For that reason its appeal is immediate. In the case of classical music, the piece must become familiar before all its beauty is brought to the surface. Thus, even though it may not strike us as quickly as the product of Tin Pan Alley, it is more apt to remain as a source of permanent enjoyment."

Brief numbers were played illustrating various types of solo and ensemble playing. They included voice and violin solo, unaccompanied chorus and symphony orchestra records. The speaker urged the members to attend the Dell concerts during the summer in order to become acquainted with classical music seldom heard among the jazz bands of the radio.

"A great number of the modern popular tunes have been taken bodily out of the great compositions of the past," Mr. Livingston said, "so there is little difference after all between the product of 1931 and that of the classical periods. Present-day orchestras and phonographs have made this great music available at all times, so that what used to be an event can now be a daily privilege. Anyone who can enjoy the modern melodies of Friml can enjoy a Beethoven symphony if he learns it as well—and will eventually find more to enjoy in the latter."

Charles H. Sykes, of Cynwyd, famous cartoonist, is to be the speaker next Tuesday.

Masters Thanks Fans

Cavalier Hotel, 3500 14th St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

July 15, 1931.

To the Editor of "Our Town":
Dear Sir:

I wish to kindly thank the officers and members of the Narberth Baseball Club and the citizens of Narberth who subscribed to the beautiful electric clock which was presented to me at the game between Washington and the Athletics, at Shibe Park, Philadelphia, on Monday. I shall always cherish the kind sentiments engraved on the clock as well as those made by Mr. Crowell when presenting it. Their wishes for my success in baseball will help me to give my very best in endeavoring to make good here.

I have always felt that my associations in Narberth were very much responsible for whatever success I have attained as it was during my first summer playing ball in Narberth, after attending West Philadelphia High School, that I met Mr. Crowell who was manager of the team at that time, which acquaintanceship resulted in my going to Haverford School under the tutelage of Mr. Crowell and Bill Durbin, who were the coaches there at that time, and then to the University of Pennsylvania under Lou Young.

If any of the Narberth team or fans are in Washington at any time, it will give me great pleasure to see them at the Washington ball park or at the above address.

With many thanks, and wishing the greatest success to the Narberth ball club, I am,

Sincerely yours,
WALTER MASTERS.

Revised Zoning Law Adopted by Borough

have been made to include a new business section along Montgomery Avenue in the ordinance and also an extension of the present Haverford Avenue business district, but after long consideration, including public hearings on the proposition and on the revised ordinance as passed on first hearing, the proposed new business district was stricken from the ordinance. It is the opinion of Council that the time is not ripe for the creation of an additional business section in the borough.

In the report of the Public Safety Committee, of which Edward S. Haws is chairman, a letter was presented from George Burnett, of 86 Wynne-dale Avenue, requesting some action to stop the speeding by automobiles and trucks on that street. Mr. Burnett stated that it had been increasing instead of decreasing and was very annoying to the residents of the street and especially to the children who play there. The road has no outlet.

A letter was read from the Allied Civic Association, a group of organizations representing municipalities served by the Philadelphia Suburban Water Company, requesting the Narberth Council's financial assistance in the fight to effect a reduction in water rates and fire hydrant charges. The sum requested of the borough as its share, pro rated according to population, was $373.50. Lower Merion Township was asked to give $2785 for the same cause. The letter was referred to the Water, Light and Health Committee, of which John R. Hall is chairman.
